GERMANS REGAIN GROUND AFTER A FIERCE BATTLE

Attack by British Aeroplane and Warships Proves to be Unsuccessful

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, July 6.—The Norwegian bark Fiery Cross was submerged southwest of the Scilly islands. The crew was landed, but six are missing. Six Americans are among the crew. Paris has reported that the French steamer Carthage has been submerged. Also that a French squadron sighted two submarines in the channel. One was hit by shells. They disappeared. German assaults in force on the French lines is continuing, and the Germans have been successful in regaining ground previously lost on a front of two-thirds of a mile between Fey-en-Haye and Moselle. The French admit this, while recording the breakdown of the attack along other parts of the front. In southern Poland the Russians have been driven over the Galician border. They are fighting determinedly to check the Teutonic thrust at Warsaw. Petrograd reports desperate engagements between the Vistula and the Bug rivers. The Russians claim to have checked the Austro-Germans at different points.

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, July 6.—Dispatches from the western front say that in recent battles between Arras and Labasse the allies suffered fearful losses, one command losing 3400 out of 4200 men. A great British aeroplane attack directed against the German positions in a bay of the North sea, on July 4, is officially announced. The attack failed. The aeroplanes were accompanied by cruisers and destroyers. The British war vessels were forced to retreat.

LONDON, July 6.—Stiffer resistance to the Teutonic advance toward Warsaw is being offered by the Russians, is indicated by reports. Along the eastern front from the Baltic to Bessarabia, a distance of more than eight hundred miles, the Russians are apparently holding the Austro-Germans except at one point. Near Krausnik, in southern Poland, Archduke Ferdinand's army has broken through and continued its advance toward Warsaw. Berlin says that the Germans took a Russian position near Suwalki, also 500 prisoners.

ADMIRAL ADVISES GERMANY

Danger of Rupture with America

WEIGHTY PROBLEM

TRUPPEL DOES NOT THINK THAT DESTRUCTION OF COMMERCE BY SUBMARINES IS GOOD POLICY

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, July 6.—Admiral Truppel, ex-governor of Kiao Chow, in an article in Der Tag, warns the Germans not to underestimate the danger of a breach between America and Germany and asks them to weigh the question whether the value of Germany's submarine warfare against British commerce is great enough to justify its continuance in the present form at the expense of a rupture with America.

EMPEROR FRIENDLY DISPOSED

Dispute may be Amicably Settled

GERMANY'S VIEWS

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT HAS NOT YET REPLIED TO THE LATEST INTERNATIONAL CORRESPONDENCE

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 6.—Secretary Lansing said he has received a dispatch from Ambassador Gerard giving informally the views of Germany on warfare by submarines, but this government has not replied. Lansing let it be known that proposals similar to those already discussed in Berlin press dispatches are indicating a desire to clarify the situation before making a formal answer. The effort of Germany to learn informally what proposals will be acceptable to the United States have created the impression in official quarters that the dispute between Germany and the United States will be amicably resolved.

MORGAN WILL RECOVER FROM MADMAN'S SHOTS

Holt Tries to Sever an Artery in Wrist by Using Lead Pencil in Cell

(By Associated Press.)
GLEN COVE, July 6.—Holt, who shot J. P. Morgan, attempted suicide this morning by trying to open the artery in his left wrist with a lead pencil. He spent a restless night. The attendants took his suspenders and other articles that they thought he might use in an attempt at suicide. He asked for a pencil to write to his wife. He extracted the eraser and bit the metal which had held the rubber until the edges met. Then he attempted to reach the artery but had only cut a vein before it was discovered. Dr. Guy Cleghorn says he believes that Holt is of unsound mind. Morgan is improving. He wanted to get up but his physicians disapproved. The condition of Holt is serious as a result of loss of blood and refusal to eat. He may be removed to a hospital.

(By Associated Press.)
GLEN COVE, July 6.—J. P. Morgan is out of danger. His physicians have so notified his family. His pulse and temperature are normal and he passed a restful night. Frank Holt, on the other hand, was so weak he couldn't sit up. Unless his condition improves it will be impossible to take him to court for his examination Wednesday. His weakness is due to loss of blood from the injury he sustained when struck by the bullet. The authorities are endeavoring to clear up whether Holt was involved in the alleged murder of Mrs. Erich Muenster in 1906. Muenster disappeared from Harvard after his wife died, it was charged, of poisoning. Former acquaintances of Muenster asserted that pictures of Holt showed a marked resemblance to the man they knew as Muenster. Holt denied that he was Muenster.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 6.—The police have found the house where Holt stayed when he came to plant the bombs which wrecked a room in the capitol. They found an empty bottle which had contained sulphuric acid. The police say Holt intended to throw a suitcase containing dynamite into Morgan's automobile in the event they passed on the road when Holt was going to the Morgan home.

INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATED IN DELIGHTFUL MANNER IN TONOPAH

TWO DAYS AND THREE NIGHTS OF PLEASURE

Hearty Enjoyment of Every Feature of a Program Planned with Care and Painstakingly Prepared

THE shouting and the tumult have died—Kipling would have said "has"—and the visitors have departed. Tonopah is yawning today and stretching its weary limbs. It had a bully good time, even if it is all tired out and now it is a case of getting back into the weary grind.

The Fourth of July was celebrated here in a manner exceeding in splendor even the plans of those who labored for weeks to make it a success. The city is complimented by all the visitors on the hospitality dispensed and the many efforts that were put forth to make everybody comfortable and keep all entertained every moment of the time. It was originally planned to have a single day's celebration, but the plans grew until it was difficult to crowd everything into the three evenings and two days allotted. Some encroachment was even made upon the third day by the mardi gras ball which concluded the celebration.

An unfavorable attitude toward the event was taken by the weather man, who sent gusty breezes from the four quarters of the skies and caused the

EVELYN SAYS SHE WILL NOT TESTIFY

DOESN'T APPEAR TO BE NERVOUS

WITNESSES SAY HARRY TRIED TO SHOOT UP TWO CABBIES

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 6.—Evelyn Thaw, summoned by the state to testify against Harry Thaw, has arrived from Chateaugay lake. She announced that she would stand upon her circumstantial rights and not take the stand against her husband. Her appearance did not bear out the reports that she was suffering from nervousness. Frank Scribner, who lived in the same house with Thaw when attending Harvard, told of seeing Thaw with a shotgun, after coming in a cab. Thaw was disarmed. James Nichols testified that he heard Thaw threaten to shoot another cabman after an altercation over a fare.

THE DECORATIONS

There was scarcely a business house or public building in Tonopah that was not handsomely decorated during the celebration, while many private houses were decked with bunting and the Stars and Stripes waved everywhere. The committee on decorations and illuminations centered their efforts on the Court of Patriotism, but displayed flags and bunting and strings of shaded incandescent lights throughout the business section.

It is predicted that because of the character of the land that the campaign will be a constant drain on the German resources, as even victory is almost as costly a defeat.

BRYAN DISCUSSES MEANING OF FLAG

AMERICA SHOULD APPLY MORAL CODE

MIGHT AS COMPARED WITH RIGHT BURDEN OF ADDRESS AT EXPOSITION

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—W. J. Bryan, orator at the Independence Day celebration at the exposition, appealed to Americans to solve the international and domestic problems by applying to them the simple standards of the moral code; to relegate to proper and inferior places, money as compared to man. He discussed might as compared with right. "The Meaning of the Flag" was his theme. He said that if the United States is to lead the world in the advance toward economic peace it must be guided by this principle, that human rights come first, and it must apply them to every question with which it has to deal.

UNITED STATES SENATOR PITTMAN MAKES ADDRESS

Fourth of July Oration Delivered at the Airdome on Fourth of July is Reproduced in Full

United States Senator Pittman, the orator of the day on July 4th, after felicitating the people of Tonopah on the excellence of the celebration, spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Fellow Citizens: We approach our birthday of our nation with the same pride and joy that have marked all those that have gone before, but with more serious thoughts and determined purpose. We have awakened to the realization that our nation is no longer an infant, confined in its action and influence to the home, but that it stands today in all of its greatness and manly vigor upon the threshold of international activity. Strive as we may, we cannot avoid the duties and responsibilities that are imposed upon us by international intercourse. Our people have so wonderfully developed this rich country that we now produce more than we can consume, and we are taking the products of our lands and our factories to every country in the world. Our citizens, restless for new fields to explore and develop, are establishing communities, acquiring property and engaging in business, in every land. We have the richest country on earth, and we are entitled to have the greatest trade.

Our right to lawfully trade with all people, and for such purpose to have the free and uninterrupted use of the high seas, is inherent and indisputable, and such right must and shall be protected.

I trust that this statement will not be misinterpreted. I hope that no one will believe I have in mind any conditions other than those of peace. Our people still believe in the natural humanity, intelligence and justice of man, and will continue to act upon that theory until all hope of its truth is crushed. Recent events in Europe might seem to contradict this theory, but we must remember that there are conditions existing in Europe that do not exist here and of which we have very little understanding. Europe is made up of different races, born and reared under different environments, taught divergent and conflicting precepts, impressed with the history of ancient wrongs, and encouraged in distrust and jealousy. Is it any wonder, then, that such nations, living in close proximity, should now and then misunderstand each other, and be cast into hasty and unreasonable war?

We hold no race antipathy. Our nation is made up of the freest and strongest of all races. We have no ancient precepts, but in their place
